

You can't tweak native side

- Sometimes you just want to change something in native code
- For example in your `AndroidManifest` or `Info.plist`
- You can't (at least not everything)

Hard to debug a standalone app

- You can't debug and fix bugs of your standalone build
- Because not all of them is reproducible using Expo client
- Every time you have to build and run the app in your device
- And use 'console.log' to debug, yay!